As will be noticed, the text-books for the course are Black s Constitutional Law and Birkhimer s Military Government and Martial Law. However, these books serve more as a guide to lessons than as books of study, the course being largely one of cases. The method employed was daily assignment of a case to each of two officers, who, upon the day following, reported the results of their work to the class. These reports were not reduced to writing. They consisted of a brief statement of facts, and an outline of the reasoning leading up to the decision, followed by the decision itself and the pointing out of the legal principle upon which the case turned. Cases were selected so...
